

Charge

The Publications Committee (PC) is responsible for the editorial quality and performance of FASEB's publications.

Objectives

1. Provide editorial guidance for developing the vision for FASEB's publications including input on potential new products, programs, or services, new partnerships, and new strategic directions.
2. Work closely with the Publications staff and Editors-in-Chief on long-term, innovative strategic and scenario planning.
3. Advise FASEB Publications staff on ethical and legal issues developing in the industry and serve as a resource for Publications staff and Editors-in-Chief.
4. Review, interpret, and report on publications performance metrics semi-annually. Monitor the longitudinal editorial performance of FASEB's publications to ensure they meet the needs of FASEB and are advancing science.
5. Regularly review existing publication policies, develop, and recommend new policies to meet the changing environment, and support efforts at improving research integrity.
6. Recommend the appointment of Editors-in-Chief including appointing or serving on an Editor-in-Chief search.
