who share best practices in data sharing and reuse

DATAWorks!<sup>FASEB</sup> Salon

DataWorks! Salon is a conversation space that fosters an exchange of ideas to design effective practices for data sharing and reuse. Our salons are researcher-driven and enable participants to learn in an engaging and welcoming format.

Previous salons have covered such topics as

- Preparing a data management plan
- Selecting a repository
- Making your data more discoverable
- Understanding funder requirements for data sharing and reuse

Why Take Part in a Salon?

- Learn from experts in a casual and conversational environment
- Access resources for biological and biomedical research data management
- Engage with like-minded life scientists who are navigating data management
- Ease your ability to navigate data sharing and reuse in your research

DataWorks! Salon is a component of FASEB DataWorks! which is designed to bring the biological and biomedical research communities together to advance human health through data sharing and reuse.
